ALARMED AT DREAD DISEASE

Spread of Sleeping Sickness Threatens Entire World, According to Scientists of Prominence,

Sleeping sickness, called encephalitis lethargica by the doctors, seems now to have become a domestic evil, says the Medical Record (New York), in quoting a study of this formerly rare disease by Doctor Lhermitte in a French medical journal.

It appears that the disease is epidemic all over the world and that it manifests itself in many forms, the only symptom possessed by all in common being that of deep and prolonged sleep.

In true encephalitis lethargica there are four cardinal symptoms-ocular paralyses, hypersomnia, fever and the general state. The ocular paralyses may be absent at the outbreak of the disease, but once present they are characteristic. So, too, is the type of hypersonnia. It is a narcolepsy, but the subject does not arouse quickly, as in the condition which commonly goes by the name and in which the seizures may be only momentary. However, the permanent sleep may be preceded by narcoleptic crises. Doctor Lhermitte notes hypertension of the muscles and a state suggesting catalepsy. Tremors are often manifest; the temperature goes to 104 degrees F. He says a Wassermann test and examination of the spinal fluid should always be made.

OLD FISH MARKET MUST GO

London's Famous Billingsgate Forced to Succumb to the Inexorable March of Time.

Billingsgate, London's old-time fish market, is about to move. The course of time and the modern difficulties of transport are responsible for the plan to remove to another site more easy of access, and in which space will not always be at a premium.

Billingsgate was the most important quay on the Thames in late Saxon times, and fish, among other things, were landed there. By the time of Edward I the market was fully established, and the king, who was a confirmed food controller, fixed a tariff of maximum prices. This list included one dozen best soles, 6 cents; best mullet, 4 cents; best haddock, 4 cents best Thames or Severn lamprey. $ cents; gallon of oysters, 4 cents, and best porpolse, 12 to 16 cents. The best fresh salmon, after Easter, were to be sold at four for $1.25. That was in the days when the Thames was full of salmon, and one could catch flour ders and flatfish on a line dropped over London bridge. The water is still salty during high tide, but the sea fish do not come up any further than Gravesend, which is 20 miles lower down.

Compensation for Dark Days. "There are not many happinesses so complete as those that are snatched under the shadow of the sword." Some of life's brightest blossoms bloom along its hardest ways, and looking back on days of poverty, sickness and hardship we often see the choicest treasures of love and loyalty that we have ever known. Anyone may share our joys with us, but the one who shares our trials comes close in a friendship that will never be forgotten. An outsider, pitying the weary attendants in a sickroom, cannot know how near to heaven its companionships often lie, nor what blessed bits of happiness are snatched under the shadow of the suspended sword. The dark days have their compensations,-Montreal Her-

Varieties of Potatoes. One potato may be big enough to provide a meal for a good-sized famfly. People in Virginia like them that way. In northern markets, however, the demand is for potatoes of a modest size. In Europe potatoes are grown of different kinds for different purposes. Certain varieties are raised for cooking and others for starch making and distilling. Over there they have a so-called "stock potato," which is not used for human food at all. It is very large and coarse of texture. The yield to the acre is twice the ordinary, and the tubers, being exceedingly rich in starch, are great alcohol producers.,

Paderewski's Handshake. It is stated that after the signing of the Austrian peace treaty in Paris, Paderewski, who represented Poland, shook hands with the other allied plenipotentiaries, using both hands for the operation. The celebrated planist was not always so free with his magical hands. Some years ago, white shaking hands with a friend, his fingers came into contact with the lighted end of a cigar, and for a day or two he was unable to play. Thereupon he heavily insured each of his fingers, and to reduce the chances of such a happening again he made it a rigid rule not to shake hands with anyone.

Explained.

Henry's father was a golf enthusi ast; therefore Henry knew all about the game. One time he was asked: "Henry, why is it that men that play golf always yell 'fore' instead of 'look out' or some such thing?"

Henry thought for a second before an inspiration came from looking at his young sister, who was diligently getting her arithmetic.

"You see," he replied, "It takes too long to yell 'toot-toot,' and that sounds so much like 'two-two' that they just add them together and yell 'four.'

GLASS THAT CAN BE BENT

New Invention Declared to Be Sultable for a Number of Useful Industrial Purposes.

A new substitute for glass or for lacquer has been invented. It can be cut with shears or with a knife and, when heated to more than 100 degrees Centigrade, it forms a kneadable mass which resumes its previous hard state on cooling. It is known as "cellon." Under the patents of Dr. Elchelgrun, a company is making cellon in the form of a solid or liquid solution of acetyl cellulose in camphor, either white or colored, transparent or opaque. It appears in slabs, or tube form, as well as in the form of a plastic mass, as putty to be used for lagging purposes or as an anti-rust liquid. The hard vitreous cellon is bendable and springy and insensitive to cold water, soap, fat, alcohol or perfol-When burnt in a flame it drops off like shellac, without, however, being as combustible as the latter. Cellon varnish, which can be allowed to harden or solidify into flexible layers, is suitable for many industrial purposes. Liquid cellon can be used for impregnating textiles or for making insulating tape. In this latter form it can be taken from the round box in which it Is wound up, even in the moist condition, and allowed to barden in air.

USE FOR "TANKS" IN PEACE

French Have Put Frightful War Machines to a Variety of Highly Useful Occupations,

The French appear to be ahead of as in finding a use for tanks in peace times. A considerable number of French tanks which are comparatively small sized are now employed for transport purposes about the yards of large industrial works; others are used as farm tractors, while the larger tanks are replacing horses for traction along the wide paths of the great French canals. The latest and perhaps the most remarkable employment which has been found for these machines is in connection with mountain climbing for tourists. For this purpose the armor, and of course all the fighting apparatus of the tank are removed and a carriage or superstructure capable of carrying from ten to twenty passengers added. The seating is either arranged longitudinally or crosswise. Very steep grades can be taken, while the machines casily cross small streams and make their way through brushwood, tall grass and over the roughest roads.

Japan's "Year of the Monkey." Every year, in a series of 12, is known in Japan by the name of an animal, as in the signs of the ze and this is the year of the monkey. Consequently the many millions of New Year cards exchanged were for the most part decorated with simian representations of various kinds. The year of the monkey is not considered a propitious one for marriage, as the word saru (monkey) also is a verb which means "to leave," and there is a superstition that all who marry in the monkey year are likely to leave their partners, who might otherwise be partners for life. Consequently all the couples who intended entering the married state in 1920 had to rush the ceremony through in December of 1919, keeping country registries and shrines very busy during that month. The post office had a gigantic task in delivering the hundreds of millions of New Year cards dispatched the day before the first of January.

Resourceful Traveler. Ole the Bear (A. R. Westerberg). mail carrier between Revelstoke, British Columbia, and Downie Creek, 45 miles up the Big Bend, succeeded in accomplishing a feat that establishes a new record in this district. The great depth of snow up the Big Bend, together with the heavy crust caused by raining and freezing, made it practically impossible for a horse to travel the roads, but Ole conceived the idea of making snowshoes for his horse, which he did out of birch, constructing them circular in shape and more than a foot across. For protection he covered the horse's legs with blankets, and thus he succeeded in making Revelstoke in three days without harm to himself or horse.-Seattle Post-Intelligencer. The True University.

Every true university should make room in its scheme for life out-ofdoors. There is much to be said for John Milton's plan of a school whose pupils should go together each year on long horseback journeys and sailing cruises in order to see the world. John Burroughs has a college on little farm beside the Hudson and John Muir has a university called the Yosemite. If such men cross a field or thicket they see more than the seven wonders of the world. That is culture. And without it all scholastic learning is arid, and all the academic degrees known to a man are but chins oranges hung on a dry tree.-Henry Van Dyke.

Beat Him to It.

The company had been marching for two solid miles without a rest and Recruit Sullivan, holding the exalted rank of No. 3 in the rear rank, first squad, had about come to the limit of his endurance. Finally, just as he was about to give up the ghost and drop. the captain gave the command. "Cor

pany, halt." "By the lord, captain," grouned Sul liven, as be eased off his pack, "you took the very words out of me mouth." -The Home Sector
